“ Hey Charles, I haven't seen you in two years, but I sure do remember you, your one of those people someone can't forget about. I came across the picture of the jeep that you wanted me to draw for you. I promised Cheri I would give i to her. Don't worry I'll help take care of her. Hope heaven is great!! Love you.

“ Hey my sweetness....
*I wrote to you on the Advocate site also but I know how much you LOVE to read the paper (and love to hear from me) soI really need my "weather man" right now. It's not fair that I'm actually having to watch and keep track of this storm myself.
I hope you liked what I said said about you yesterday. I think everything went well and we even had a few laughs....you know what I mean... and by the way "the rain" bit wasn't funny but I got the hint.
You know I'd be burning up your phone today about this storm and you'd be calming down in a way only you could do. I'm lost without you dad.
I love you so much.

“ I met and worked with Charlie for only a short while but during that time I thought of him as a very nice and caring individual who always made you feel comfortable when you were around him. I will miss him every day that I am still on this job and remember him fondly when I leave.

“ I worked with Charlie for a short time before being transferred to another area. My time spent with him was very pleasurable. He was a very nice person to be around. I never heard him raise his voice and talk down to anyone. That's a rare thing for a person in his position of responsibility. He will be missed.

“ My Deepest Sympathies
Even though we had not seen each other for many years there is a strong bond that develops when you grow up in a small town like Enon. You always remember fondly the good times of our youth and Charles Ray was part of that. More importantly he served as one of my role models.
