“ Lil D. That's how I've known you since you're born. We only came to be friends about a year or so ago when you came to your mom's work and came to visit me. Ok I may have pulled you in my office to chat and for you to eat my pizza! I've known you through your dad the rest of the time. I will cherish the chats we had in person and from our 125 day snap streak! I am still in shock at this whole situation and while processing that reality, you slipped away. Definitely taken too soon but I trust The Lord has a bigger plan for you and needed you more than we did here. It doesn't make it better, just easier to know He has you to watch over all of us. I hope you still have that crazy hair! You will truly be missed as you were one of the sweetest, funniest and kindest young man I've known! I pray you are resting easy and for peace for your parents, siblings and family during this time of mourning. I love you BIG!

“ A LETTER TO DAVEY

Hey Buddy,

I don't know if you can hear me, but I wanted to talk to you.

I wanted to say, thank you. Thank you for being my friend. You didn't have to, you had every reason not to, I mean, I was just some guy that came along trying to date your mom; but you did! And you were a GOOD friend. And I enjoyed being your friend. You see, you already had parents that loved you very much, so I was able to have the luxury of just being your friend.

I also wanted to thank you for being so helpful all the time, for all the help you gave your mom and dad, and how responsible you were with James and Skeeter. You are such a good boy.

I am so sorry that this happened, and I'm so so sorry that there was nothing we could do about it.

I promise you that I will do my best to take care of mom, dad, James and Skeeter. So, you don't have to worry about anything.

I don't want you to leave us, but I understand that you have to.

So, THANK YOU. Thank you for eleven years of good times. Remember that time we took the 911 on the Earhart Expressway? Or the time we went to the mall to get your suit for your first high school dance? Good times, good times.....

It was such a pleasure to watch you grow, and I am so PROUD of the young man you had become.

I will miss you. I will never forget you. Goodbye, my friend.

“ I met David briefly when he worked with my daughter at Cane's. From the moment I met him, there was something absolutely special and unique about him. He had a kindness and a bit of an old soul that you just don't see in kids his age. He made quite an impression, and we were devastated to find out about his illness and passing. There are no words to ease the pain the family is feeling. Just reading all of the memorials and tributes to him proves that he touched so many lives while he was with us, and his memory will live on forever.

“ I first met David Jr when he was about 6 years old. He was such an old soul. He would join in conversation easily and enthusiastically. He would maintain that same spirit throughout his life. Added to that he had an inquisitive nature and an unwavering solid character. To know David Jr was to know happiness and joy in life's simplest form, a smile from him to you. He will be forever missed and never forgotten.

“ My daughter first spoke of David when they were in Jr High together. She came home with Blink182 t-shirt and said she had been talking about music with a friend from school (David), and when she mentioned Blink182, he got excited because they were one of his favorite groups and didn't know many others who liked them. She and David were friends from that day forward, only growing closer in the early months of their junior year. David was a true gem, and I am thankful for the few times I met and talked with him, and for the memories of him that my daughter has to carry with her.
