“ I'm so sorry to hear this. I hadn't seen Shirley in a long time but I well remember our conversation. She told me how she loved to wash dishes because the soap and water that washes the dirty dishes white as snow reminds her of her Savior who washed her clean when she trusted Him as her Savior. To this day there are times as I'm washing dishes, I think of her. It makes me smile to know she is, at last, with her Lord and Savior. Until we meet again, sweet Shirley ❤️

“ Shirley, I will miss our weekly talk. You had such a kind and compassionate heart. When you told me you were ready to go, I thought you meant to your house. I mistook what you meant, but I am so glad for our last conversation. Rest in peace, my friend.

Rest in peace with our Savior, Jesus Christ, my dear friend, Shirley. It's been a years since I've seen you, but we shared many times together and many conversations during our monthly visits to Walmart. Give Dan a hug for me. See you over there.
